Eye-Witness Report from Hotel Oloffson

Tequila Minsky, a New York-based photographer who is staying at the Hotel Oloffson in Port-au-Prince – which was the model for the Haitian hotel in Graham Greene's novel "The Comedians" – told my colleague Patrick Witty, a photo editor on the New York Times foreign desk, what she saw immediately after the earthquake. She had arrived at the hotel just two hours before the quake struck, shaking the walls of her room shook and knocking things off it.

She immediately went out and started taking pictures on the surrounding streets. The wall at the front of the hotel had fallen down and killed someone. A number of nearby buildings had collapsed, trapping people. A woman was crying and saying, "My uncle, my uncle." A bank building was very badly damaged in the Rue Capois which runs along the side of the hotel. People were screaming. "It was general mayhem," she said. By 6:30, she said, it was dark and fires were burning downtown, near the shoreline.

MSF Teams Set up Clinics to Treat Injured

The Martissant health center in a poor area of Port-au-Prince had to be evacuated after the earthquake because it was damaged and unstable. The patients are now in tents in the grounds and the medical staff have been dealing with a flow of casualties from the town. They have already treated between 300 and 350 people, mainly for trauma injuries and fractures. Among them are 50 people suffering from burns—some of them severe—many of them caused by domestic gas containers exploding in collapsing buildings.

2010-01-13 10:57:00

Magnitude 7.0, 2010 January 12 21:53:09 UTC

Location: 18.451°N, 72.445°W

Depth: 10 km (6.2 miles) set by location program

The January 12, 2010, Haiti earthquake occurred in the boundary region separating the Caribbean plate and the North America plate. This plate boundary is dominated by left-lateral strike slip motion and compression, and accommodates about 20 mm/y slip, with the Caribbean plate moving eastward with respect to the North America plate. Haiti occupies the western part of the island of Hispaniola, one of the Greater Antilles islands, situated between Puerto Rico and Cuba. At the longitude of the January 12 earthquake, motion between the Caribbean and North American plates is partitioned between two major east-west trending, strike-slip fault systems -- the Septentrional fault system in northern Haiti and the Enriquillo-Plaintain Garden fault system in southern Haiti. The location and focal mechanism of the earthquake are consistent with the event having occurred as left-lateral strike slip faulting on the Enriquillo-Plaintain Garden fault system. This fault system accommodates about 7 mm/y, nearly half the overall motion between the Caribbean plate and North America plate. The Enriquillo-Plaintain Garden fault system has not produced a major earthquake in recent decades. The EPGFZ is the likely source of historical large earthquakes in 1860, 1770, 1761, 1751, 1684, 1673, and 1618, though none of these has been confirmed in the field as associated with this fault.

I am currently in Les Cayes, Haiti.

Yesterday, we heard that there was a crack in the road and was impassable near Tabion near Petit Goave. Today, the bus depot in Les Cayes said that a few buses were able to get through to PAP from here. This morning a bus and a car from Hope for Haiti left from Les Cayes to PAP, and they have just arrived so the road appears to be passable.

Border road down, Looting started in P-au-P

I received this report at 6 pm EST, from relatives now in Petition Ville, Haiti, relayed by phone to my cousin Clive d'Adesky in Miami.

FROM WHAT WE HAVE LEARNED THE BORDER ROAD HAS BRIDGES DOWN AND THE ROAD HAS CAVED IN, IN MANY PLACES.

THE PORT IS DOWN CAN'T RECEIVE ANY VESSELS, AS OF NOW. AIRPORT MAY REOPEN NEXT 24 - 48 HOURS.

FOR THE NEXT 5-7 DAYS, ONLY WAY IN IS VIA HELICOPTER. ANY PLANES COMING LIKELY ONLY MILITARY AS IT WOULD BE SIGHT ONLY LANDING..

LOOTING AND SHOOTING IN TOWN HAS ALREADY STARTED, THE JAILS CAME DOWN SO ALL THE PRISONERS ARE OUT ON THE STREET... A WAR ZONE.

OUR RELATIVE'S FATHER IN LAW GOT 8 BULLETS TO HIS CAR TRYING TO GO DOWN TOWN. THEY HAD TO TURN AROUND, LUCKILY ONLY ONE PERSON IN THE CAR GOT BRAISED BY A BULLET IN THE HEAD.

THERE ARE BODIES ALL OVER, THAT WILL BECOME A BIG PROBLEM IN DAYS TO COME, THAT MUST BE DEALT WITH AS A PRIORITY AS WELL.
